About Kohler Industries

Kohler Industries is the leading manufacturer of new and used industrial food processing equipment for the meat processing industry. Our customers include an extensive list of American and international food producers who feed the world.

What began in 1975, in a small fabrication shop in the heart of Lincoln, Nebraska, has now grown to seven manufacturing shops on eight acres of inventory and two subsidiary brands.

We foster a culture of continuous motion: always expanding, reaching for more, and taking pride in every machine we build. That means your only limitation is how fast you want to grow. If you're searching for a career to take you to the top of your game, we want to help you get there. Ditch the rise and grind for a collaborative team environment, a job that's never boring, and coworkers that treat you like family.
